New Union Labor Demands Threaten Ruin Employers Say

Proposed New Scale and Shorter Week Would Increase Cost of Building to a Prohibitive Figure and Close Mills That Now Have Huge Payrolls—Employers Feel They Should Not Pass Increase on to the Customer.

Labor unions in the building trades in Kingston are asking increases of 20 to 25 per cent in the wage schedule this spring, with a week of five days, according to demands served on the various employers and reported to the Kingston Building Trades Employers' Association at a recent meeting of that body. This newly formed association includes practically all of the individuals, firms and corporations engaged in the building trades, carpenters, electrical contractors, plumbers, painters, mill men, general contractors, masons, sheet metal workers, etc.

The officers of the association are: Frank Campbell, president; Harford S. Shultis, vice president; George Dressel, secretary, and Joseph McNelis, treasurer.

A summary of the labor union demands thus far made, as reported at the meeting, follows:

Painting Contractors—Old rate, $.90. New rate, $1.00. Represented by Fred Hunt and Frank Messinger.

Reported with authority from the Ulster County Master Painters that they were opposed to any increase in wages and the five-day week.

Electrical Contractors—Old rate, $.80. New rate, $1.00. Represented by Joseph McNelis and R. J. Harder.

Reported with authority from the Electrical Contractors' Association of Kingston, that they were opposed to any increase in wages and the five-day week.

Plumbing Contractors—Old rate, $1.12½. New rate, $1.25. Represented by George Dressel, Edward Loughran and Morris Spitzler.

Reported with authority from Master Plumbers' Association that they were opposed to any increase in wages and the five-day week.

Carpenter Contractors — Outside, old rate, $1.00. New rate, $1.25. Represented by Delbert Griffen and H. H. Swart.

Reported with authority from General Carpenter Contractors' Association that they were opposed to any increase in wages and the five-day week.

Mills—Old rate, $.85. New rate, $1.00. Represented by H. S. Shultis and Joseph Garland.

Reported with authority from General Carpenter Contractors' Association that they were opposed to any increase in wages and the five-day week.

Reported with authority from the General Contractors' Association that they were opposed to any increase in wages and the five-day week.

Sheet Metal Contractors—Represented by Clifford Smith and Joseph Garland.

No report as no demands have been made to them to date.

Mason Contractors — Represented by W. E. Joyce and Frank Campbell.

No report as no demands have been made to them to date.

It would be easy for the employers to accede to these demands and pass the cost on to the public, say the members of the association, but, aside from questions of fairness and justice, they fear that this would be killing the goose that has been laying the golden eggs for both themselves and the workmen. The cost of labor represents 60 per cent of the cost of building and if at least 20 per cent were to be added to this cost, the total increase would, at least, slow up building progress in Kingston.

On a house that now costs $6,000 to build, the cost of labor is now $3,600, which under the proposed new scale of wages would be increased to $4,300 or more. The average income of the Kingston wage earner, as ascertained by a recent survey made by an out of town advertising agency, and the cost of living in Kingston is 19 per cent below the average of other cities. As much of the new building is being done for wage earners it is certain that many now contemplating erecting homes will be prevented by the added cost from doing so, for should the proposed new wage scale be accepted by the various contracting and building concerns the increase would inevitably be passed on to the customer, who in most cases is a laborer of some kind himself. It is on the man who has a house built that the burden of cost of granting the building trades a five-day week and an increase in pay would come.

Furthermore, many of the employers make contracts for six months or a year ahead of beginning actual construction work. These contracts must be made on the basis of present wages and are made in the face of stiff competition with firms outside the city, so that profits have had to be shaved very closely. It is only in this way that continuous paying activity for the employer and continuous employment for the workmen may be assured.

This is especially true of the mill work, in which a large number of men are employed. It is not only to the employer, the laborer and the person who is having building done that the question is of importance, for without the payrolls of the various factories the purchasing power of the city's population would be greatly impaired. Two concerns, the Palen plant and the former Earth refrigerator plant, have, in combination, a total payroll of nearly $750,000 a year. Both concerns are owned by out of town people and their continuance here is dependent on the possibility of operating them at a profit, which can only be done so long as they can meet price competition with concerns in a similar line located in other places and paying moderate wages.

Even with the present scale of wages, many contracts are going outside the city because of lower labor cost making it possible for outside firms to underbid local builders.

These and other arguments are being advanced by the Kingston Building Trades Employers' Association in support of their position that a five-day week and a material increase in wages would be disastrous for not only the employers and employes, but for the entire city, by decreasing building operations here, heavily taxing those who are compelled to build and, by prohibitive additions to the cost of labor, decrease the amount of employment possible to give. Especially will this last be disastrous if increased cost of production makes it impossible for Kingston firms engaged in mill work lines to compete with other producers and forces them to shut down their plants as the only way of diminishing losses, unless they go to some other place and are lost to Kingston entirely. The association feels that in resisting demands that will increase cost of production so greatly it is conserving the interests of the whole city to an even greater extent than the direct business interests of its own members.

Lindbergh Starts New Mail Service

Valbuena Air Field, Mexico, March 9 (AP).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, inaugurating the Brownsville-Mexico City air mail service, hopped off from the Valbuena Air Field at 7:56 o'clock this morning (8:56 eastern standard time).

Lindbergh's route was to carry him over parts of the states of Hidalgo, Vera Cruz and Tamaulipas, most of which have not been affected seriously by the revolution.

Lindbergh, whose right shoulder was injured in his recent one-wheeled descent at Balbuena, was without the sling and bandages today.

He planned to make a stop at Tampico.

A second tri-motored plane in charge of Alfred Kent, of the Mexican Aviation Company, accompanied Lindbergh, taking off at 8:05 a. m.

This is the second time that Lindbergh has inaugurated an airmail passenger service between Latin America and the United States. Several weeks ago he opened the Pan-American airmail service between Panama and the United States by way of Cuba.

Agents Find Still At Pearl River

Prohibition enforcement officers from the local office on Friday raided a bungalow at Pearl River where they found a still and arrested Raymond Towt, charging him with possession and manufacture. The still, a 150 gallon affair, was in the cellar of the bungalow on Railroad avenue.

At the time of the raid the agents found the still with full equipment and 150 gallons of mash. There was also seized 100 gallons of alleged apple jack. The prisoner was held in $500 bail for appearance later before U. S. Commissioner Crist at Middletown. The raid was made by the agents cooperating with Pearl River police officers.

Mayor Hague Subpoenaed.

Jersey City, N. J., March 9 (AP).—Mayor Frank Hague was subpoenaed this morning to appear before the McAllister legislative investigating committee in Trenton, March 25. He said he would appear but refused to say if he would be represented by counsel.

Law Enforcement Plans of Hoover Are Far-Reaching

Investigation is Intended to Cover Entire Question of Law Enforcement and Organization of Justice—First Step is Adequate Organization of Judicial and Enforcement System.

Washington, March 9 (AP).—President Hoover came today to the end of his first week as the nation's chief executive with definite plans in mind for a far-reaching investigation to be made by his law enforcement commission.

In adddition, despite the distractions presented in the foreign field by the possibilities of international complications stirred up by a full-sized Mexican revolt, the President has given thought to immigration and the problems of federal employes and had seen dozens of callers on other questions of domestic concern.

The full scope of the investigation of law enforcement contemplated was disclosed yesterday when in reply to questions by press correspondents the President said: "It was intended to cover the entire question of law enforcement and organization of justice."

"It will also naturally include consideration of the method of enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and abuses which have grown up together with the enforcement of the laws in respect to narcotics, to immigration, to trade restraint and every other branch of federal government law enforcement," he said.

Adequate Organization is First Step.

"The first step in law enforcement," he added, "is adequate organization of our judicial and enforcement system."

In critically considering the entire federal machinery of justice, the President said the purpose and scope of the commission would be to study the re-distribution of its functions, the simplification of its procedure, the provision of additional special tribunals, the better selection of juries, and "the more effective organization of our agencies of investigation and prosecution."

The Mexican situation occupied the attention of the cabinet yesterday while stray bullets were whistling across the border at El Paso. After the meeting it became known that the southern republic had been negotiating with the United States for surplus war materials and would be supplied with such as might be used.

At the same time it was made clear that there was no difference of opinion between the war department and the state department over the steps that should be taken to protect the American border. It was considered unnecessary at this time to send additional troops to the border.

Few Changes in Personnel.

Questioned concerning changes to be made in governmental personnel, the President said comparatively few were contemplated. He added that he proposed to retain as many as possible of those "who have given honest and zealous service".

"It is traditional for the principal directing heads of the government whose appointments are at the pleasure of the President both at home and in foreign service to tender their resignations with the advent of a new president," he said, "but of several hundred such officials, there are probably not more than 20 or 30 changes likely to be made at the present time."

The problem presented by the status of the national origins provisions of the immigration laws has been referred to the attorney general for an opinion. Unless that officer finds otherwise, it will be necessary for the President to issue a proclamation on April 1 to put them into effect on July 1.

Funeral Services For Judge Smith

Funeral services for Supreme Court Justice George H. Smith, who died at his home in Monticello, Sullivan county, Friday morning, will be held at the Reformed Church at Woodbourne, Sunday at 2 p. m. Interment will be in the family plot in the cemetery at that place. Supreme court justices of the third judicial district and members of the Sullivan county bar will act as honorary pall bearers. This afternoon at 2 o'clock prayer services were conducted at his late home in Monticello. Ministers, priests and the Jewish rabbi of that community took part in the services.

ELSIE JANIS ILL, TAKES MORE SERIOUS TURN.

Paris, March 9 (AP).—The illness of Elsie Janis, famous American actress, took a more serious turn today. Her temperature was 102 and her pulse 116.

Miss Janis is ill with appendicitis and congestion of her right lung following influenza.

Dr. Edmund Gross of the American Hospital and Dr. De Martel decided not to operate just now as the appendicitis showed some improvement. While her condition was not believed critical it was expected her illness would be of long duration.

Marshal Foch Much Better.

Paris, March 9 (AP).—Marshal Foch was "much better" when his physicians visited him today. He asked and received permission to spend an hour on a sofa during the day.

League Council Pays Tribute To U. S. Position

Geneva, Switzerland, March 9 (AP).—An impressive manifestation of the high place held by the United States in international life characterized today's public session of the Council of League of Nations.

Every member of the Council in approving a resolution that the committee of experts which will shortly consider revision of the World Court statutes take up the question of the accession of the United States to the court, emphasized the importance to the world of American entrance into the tribunal. After reading a prepared report and resolution, Sir Austen Chamberlain the British Foreign Secretary, called particular attention to the pleasant references to the "doubtless oft-times perplexing and difficult" work of the Council contained in the American note of February which reopened negotiations for American adhesion to the court. He voiced this conviction that every member of the Council would observe this sympathetic declaration with satisfaction.

Elihu Root, noted American jurist, who prepared the formula which is felt to point the way for American membership, was the recipient of numerous tributes.

Explaining that Secretary Kellogg's note arrived at the moment when a committee of jurists was about to commence study of eventual amendments to the world court statute, Sir Austen emphasized that the task entrusted to this committee made it posible that it might be able to furnish valuable assistance toward reaching the agreement contemplated in the Kellogg Note. This agreement he was sure was "greatly desired by all the present signatories of the courts protocol."

He then presented a resolution enlarging the mandate of the jurist committee so that it might be authorized to take up the question of American adhesion.

Government to Issue Dry Posters

Washington, March 9 (AP).—Posters, suitably illustrated, will tell of the evils of the liquor traffic and the benefits of prohibition, as seen by the government.

Commissionar Doran of the prohibition bureau has decided that an advertising campaign by the government will aid law enforcement, and specimens of posters carrying appropriate sentiments are in the hands of a committee of the national conference of organizations supporting the eighteenth amendment. They will report recommendations to Dr. Doran.

Fifty thousand dollars for educational purposes was made available to the prohibition bureau under a bill passed at the last congress, and this will be used in the poster campaign.

THREE ATTENDED FUNERAL, 30 WANT SHARE OF ESTATE

Chicago, March 9 (AP).—There were only three persons at the funeral of the Flynn brothers in 1926 but there were ten times that number at the Flynn estate hearing in probate court yesterday.

The Flynns lived in a shack near Park Ridge, like hermits. John, who was 72, died of pneumonia. James, two years younger, shot himself.

Under the decaying floors, tucked behind boards, concealed in holes, was found in gold and currency—about a quarter of a million dollars.

Thirty persons yesterday were represented at the initial hearing to determine disposition of the estate. Most of them offered family Bibles in proof of their relationship to the Flynn brothers.

Decision was withheld.

THREE BANDITS ESCAPE WITH $3,000 PAYROLL

Lynn, Mass., March 9 (AP).—Three men today escaped with a $3,000 payroll of the Dietz Leather Company after they had staged a holdup in front of the company's plant.

The trio waited in front of the factory for Miss Alice Larkin, employed in the office, who had gone to a bank for the money. She was driven to the plant in one of the company's automobiles and as she stepped from the car, one of the holdup men rushed up and snatched the money bag from her while another man held the driver of her car at the point of a gun. The third sat at the wheel of an automobile nearby with the engine running.

GOSSIPS SPECULATE ABOUT PRINCE'S MARRIAGE

London, March 9 (AP).—The perpetual question of when the Prince of Wales will marry receives a fresh airing in the Daily Sketch today.

The paper recalls that the Prince has told friends he will marry when he is 35 and as his thirty-fifth birthday is June 23, the court gossips are indulging in some speculation.

They point to the fact, the paper says, that Marlborough House, which for some time has been prepared for the Prince's residence, is not a bachelor home, that it is now ready for occupation, and that the "consort's suite" in it has been refitted and redecorated.

$2,000 Verdict in Kennell Case Is Upheld on Appeal

Appellate Court Sustains Jury Verdict in Favor of Henry Kennell of Cottekill Against His Wife's Parents, Saugerties Residents, for Alienation of Affections.

The appellate division on Thursday handed down a decision affirming with costs the judgement of the lower court in an appeal taken from judgment rendered at the March 1928 term of Supreme court held here in the alienation of affections action brought by Henry Kennell of Cottekill against George W. Rider and his wife, Anna M. Rider of Saugerties. At the time of the trial of the action before Judge Ellis J. Staley, Henry Kennell was awarded a verdict in the sum of $2,000 against Mr. and Mrs. Rider whom it was alleged had alienated the affections of their daughter and caused her to separate from her husband.

Lloyd R. LeFever appeared for Kennell at the trial with A. J. Cook of counsel and Grant M. Brinnier with Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr., and Roscoe Elsworth appeared for the defendants. Following the verdict an appeal was filed by defendants' attorney but later Judge William D. Cunningham was substituted as attorney in the case and argued the case on appeal. The case was argued on January 16 of this year with Judge Cunningham appearing for the appellants and Lloyd R. LeFever for the plaintiff-respondent.

The action was brought in Supreme court alleging $30,000 damages. Kennell contended that shortly after he had married the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rider they began to make charges against him, later his wife shared in their belief and he was finally ordered from the Rider home where he had gone to live upon marriage at the request of the defendants.

The decision of the appellate division is accompanied by an opinion by Judge Davis with all of the Judges concuring except Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck who dissents.

"The plaintiff married an only child of defendants on October 12, 1925. Before he was married he was employed in a garage in Kingston. It was insisted by the defendants that they could not permit their daughter to leave their household, and the plaintiff must come to live with them in Saugerties. There employment was furnished him by his father-in-law. The parties in the marriage were each 25 years of age, and evidently were capable of living their own lives and making their own way in the world without immediate parental supervision.

"That trouble and discord should arise under such conditions would not be unexpected. There is evidence from which the jury might fairly find that the plaintiff's life and affairs were to a large extent managed and controlled by his wife's parents. Soon it went farther; and the parents began accusing plaintiff in the presence of his wife of infidelity and misconduct. This did not promote harmony. Eventually the father employed detectives to match and follow plaintiff. The matter culminated in October, 1926. When plaintiff attempted to enter his house, a policeman and a State Trooper were called; accusations were made against him; he was not permitted to see or talk to his wife; and was turned away to find his home elsewhere. An action was brought by his wife, but it was either discontinued or abandoned . . . We may assume from the verdict that the charges and accusations of misconduct on the part of plaintiff were groundless; and that the separation resulted from overofficious interferenece and conduct legally malicious on the part of the parents.

"Aside from the claim that the verdict was against the weight of evidence, which we do not need to discuss, the principal question presented on this appeal was an alleged error on the part of the court in failing to grant a request of the defendant's counsel to charge.

"The request is as follows, 'I ask the court to charge that the motives of the defendants as parents in extending aid and assistance to their daughter are presumed to be good until the contrary are shown.' This was a legal abstraction; the contrary had been shown. It was a phrase lifted almost bodily from the opinion in Pollock v. Pollock, 9 Misc. 82, 85, where the court, on review, was discussing a case in which there had been practically no evidence of wilful or malicious conduct on the part of the defendant.

"A presumption of law, and sometimes a presumption of fact, may be a substitute for evidence. It makes a prima facie case. A presumption of fact is merely an inference drawn by a logical process of reasoning from observation, experience, or other admitted facts. (Justice v. Lang, 52 N. Y. 323.) In the absence of any proof the presumption uncontradicted and undisputed is sufficient to give basis for a judgment. (Union Mills v. Harder, 191 N. Y. 458; Lincoln Trust Co. v. Williams Building Co., 229 Id. 313,319.) In this case the presumption in favor of defendants was not founded on any statute or long established legal doctrine, but, was an inference that

Juarez Quiet After Rebels Take Possession

Mexican Federal Troops From Key City of Northern Mexico and Their Families Interned at Fort Bliss, Texas, Under Terms of Truce—Calles in Charge of Federal Army Now Marching North.

El Paso, Texas, March 9 (AP).—Juarez was quiet today following yesterday's seven-hour battle that took its toll of Americans and left the key city of northern Mexico in the hands of revolutionary forces.

Two Americans were killed and another wounded during the fighting.

Lydia Roberta, two years old, was fatally wounded by a stray bullet while she was playing in the yard of her home here. Another American, Teddy Barnes, a bartender, was found dead in Juarez after the battle. His body lay beneath slain slodiers near the Federal headquarters at the Hotel Rio Bravo. Another El Paso child, six years old, struck by a stray bullet, was expected to recover. Official casualty lists of the battle were not available, but it was estimated that 14 Federal soldiers and rebels were killed and more than a score on each side wounded.

Interned at Fort Bliss.

On the American side of the border, 310 Mexican Federal troops and their families were interned at Fort Bliss under the terms of a truce which ended the battle.

The truce was concluded at a conference on the international bridge between General Matias Ramos, commander of Federal troops; General Miguel Valles, rebel leader, and Brigadier General Van Horn Moseley, commander of American forces here, who said the fighting had to stop, after stray bullets had killed one child and endangered the lives of other Americans in El Paso.

Ordered Into U. S. Territory

Mexico City, March 9 (AP).—A government announcement today said only 200 men were in the Juarez garrison yesterday when the city was attacked and taken by rebels.

The announcement is based on a purported report of General Matias Ramos, who said that despite the inferiority of his force of only 200 men he was able to save them with all of their supplies and even take eighteen prisoners, including three officers.

He begged the government "so as not to offend my dignity as a soldier and as a man" to allow him to mount his troops (presumably after the armistice) and march them across Mexican territory to the nearest point where he could make a junction with other loyal troops.

The government, however, according to announcement, rejected his request, as a march over Mexican territory would take at least twelve days and expose Ramos' command to extermination by the rebels.

The government then after praising Ramos' defense of Juarez ordered him to prepare for transfer with his men by train across United States territory at Piedras Negras, across the river from Eagle Pass, or Laredo.

No More Troops For Laredo

Laredo, Tex., March 9 (AP).—Separated from Mexico only by the Rio Grande and with only a small American garrison to protect it from possible crossfire, Laredo heard today with some trepidation that authorities at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, had denied its request that 1,000 American troops be sent here.

The terse announcement that troops would not be moved was made after a conference here last night between Brigadier General Frank S. Cocheu and his staff at Fort Sam Houston, the army's Eighth Corps Area headquarters, and Major Charles S. Williams of Fort McIntosh, Laredo.

Calles Leads Army.

Mexico City, March 9 (AP).—The greatest army Mexico has known since the days of Pancho Villa moved northward today in an attempt to subdue the revolution in the north.

At its head was General Plutarco Calles, secretary of war, who in 1915 rode with General Alvaro Obregon at the head of Mexico's last such great army — that which crushed Villa.

The immediate objective was Canitas, a junction point in the state of Zacatecas. Capture of the city would open a way westward to Durango, where General Urbalejo held out, or northward to Torreon, where General Jose Gonzalo Escobar's troops were located.

Existence of this large army—which some say contains 18,000 men—was kept secret until late last night when an official government statement said it had been concentrated at Irapuato, state of Guanajuato, under the direction of General Lazaro Cardenas, who had already started for Canitas.

Almost simultaneously with the announcement a special train which had been waiting with steam up at the Colonia station left to join the

Air Bombardment Expected Soon

Nogales, Ariz., March 9 (AP).—A threatened aerial bombardment of Nogales, Sonora, the revolutionary stronghold of northern Mexico, by loyal federals under General Abelardo Rodriguez was looked upon today as an indication that the international border may witness another battle.

Rodriguez, who has been concentrating fighting planes and loyal soldiers at Mexicali, border town and capital of Baja California, was reported to have perpared a landing field for fifteen or twenty planes at San Luis, on the Sonora-Baja California border. Bulletins were said to have been posted by federal leaders offering jobs to American aviators at $250 a day.

The federals were said to have ten planes at Mexicali, but two of these were destroyed by a fire at the municipal airport there late last night. The blaze started when mechanics were tuning up a plane and a short circuit developed.

Rodriguez began his activities yesterday when he sent a plane to drop thousands of handbills on Nogales. The rebels, believing they were being attacked, ran to cover and did not fire on the plane.

The handbills appealed to the revolutionists to return to the federal side. Rodriguez said he expected nine bombing planes to be delivered to him next week and that the next time he sent aviators to Nogales they would carry "something more deadly than circulars." He declared he had six hundred federals at San Luis.

U. S. to Furnish Mexico Supplies

Washington, March 9 (AP).—Developments here growing out of the rebellion in Mexico City give no comfort to those who are seeking the overthrow of the present Mexican government.

The State Department has approved a request of the Mexican government for surplus war material and probably will supply such material out of stores now held by the war department. Secretary of War Good said the Mexican government had asked only for rifles and ammunition and that a survey was now being made to determine the surplus and whether it would be sent by water, or through one of the border towns.

The State Department also approved a request by the Mexican government to import privately-made airplanes from the United States.

Along with approval given the purchase of planes by the Mexican government went an embargo on unauthorized shipment of planes into Mexico, this being done presumably to prevent the buying of aircraft in this country by the rebels.

A Diphtheria Clinic Monday

Monday afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock another of the series of free diphtheria clinics under the auspices of the board of health will be held at the Central Fire Station. Since the inauguration of the free clinics for the injection of toxin antitoxin about 5,000 children have been immunized from the disease. The clinics have proven so successful in eliminating diphtheria from the city that parents having children of preschool age should take them to the clinic.

CHARGE OFFICIALS WITH VIOLATING DRY LAW

Las Vegas, Nev., March 9 (AP).—The mayor, police commissioners and more than 29 proprietors of "soft drink" places here were under arrest today charged with violating the federal prohibition law.

Federal prohibition agents led by United States Marshal J. D. Fulmer, of Carson City, swooped down on the city yesterday, making the arrests on secret indictments returned at Carson City the night before. Mayor J. C. Hesse and Police Commissioner Roy Neagle escaped incarceration by posting bail of $5,000 each. They and their alleged conspirators were ordered to appear in Carson City for arraignment March 18.

March Meeting of "Y" Auxiliary

Report of Activities Received by Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary—Miss Van Slyke Entertains Members With Talk on China.

The March meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. was held on Friday afternoon with the first vice president, Mrs. W. N. Fessenden, in the chair.

The devotions were in charge of Mrs. Graham Parish.

Mrs. Milton Shultis reported on the cake sale held at the Rose and Gorman store on Saturday, February 23.

Mrs. George DuBois reported an average attendance of over 40 at the Hi-Y suppers. She solicited help in taking care of two suppers to be given at the Y. M. C. A. in the near future. Mrs. J. H. Garrison and Mrs. C. N. Hall were appointed to be responsible for the tables at the Boy Scout supper to be given on Monday, March 18, and Mrs. W. N. Fessenden and Mrs W. R. Anderson to help in preparing the dinner.

Mrs. Elbert Van Keuren reported from 20 to 50 boys present at the junior boys' suppers each week.

As the annual meeting occurs in April, Mrs. Milton Shultis, Mrs. Chester Hamilton and Mrs. C. N. Hall were appointed a nominating committee.

Interesting Talk on China.

Miss Ellen Van Slyke gave a description of her trip to China. She stated that in China the tea pot is in evidence everywhere. Where ever one goes a cup of tea is shoved at one. Even in the railroad stations, hot tea is served from a small stove. China is said to be large enough to contain Germany, France, Italy, Belgium and all South America. Miss Van Slyke found many dialects spoken in China, each place seemingly having its own dialect and its own money which is very confusing to travellers. Hong Kong, a British concession, she described as a beautiful city, looking particularly attractive when lit up at night. Help is very cheap and one can live in luxury on a small income. The shops are fascinating, such beautiful Chinese embroideries being on sale at ridiculously reasonable prices. She found the river steamer which she took to Canton much nicer than the Hudson River night boats. The pilot is hedged in by iron bars to protect him from pirates who sometimes board the boats taking every thing the passengers have and if possible gaining control of the boat. Most of the streets in Canton are very narrow, crooked and winding, the balconies of the houses meet overhead and the streets are lined with open shops displaying feather jewelry, amber and jade.

Miss Van Slyke visited the Hall of the Dead, where people leave their dead until the astrologers tell them it is the proper time to bury them. The relatives visit their dead, bringing gifts of fruit, flowers and various offerings. Most of the temples in Canton are falling into decay. There are 200 million people in Canton. In Shanghai, she saw all the American magazines for sale. There are wonderful shops and the willow tea house seen on the willow ware plates; along the water front is a wide street with large, tall buildings. All entrances to homes are winding as the devils are not supposed to be able to go in any but a perfectly straight direction.

Often a man will rush in front of an auto barely escaping with his life with the idea that the devil who is chasing him will be run over by the auto. The Joss House Temple, Miss Van Slyke found doing a big business. She spent 10 days in Pekin and was really worn out with sight seeing. It is a city of walls, a wall divides the Tartar City from the Chinese city and the Forbidden City from the Chinese City. In the Forbidden City the Emperor and titled people lived. There are wonderful museums and art galleries. A guide is necessary in Pekin, also a rickshaw boy, who can be hired to take one about all day for 50 cents.

Miss Van Slyke visited a Chinese classmate at Vassar. Her home was decorated with scrolls and paintings executed by her ancestors. Among the wonders visited in Pekin were the Temple of Heaven where the emperor used to offer prayer for his people after a period of fasting, the Ming Tombs and the Union Medical College built in Chinese style of architecture but equipped with the latest of everything in medical science. Young Chinese men and women are being trained as nurses and physicians there.

A rising vote of thanks was given Miss Van Slyke for her unique and interesting talk. She also exhibited a number of views and beautiful samples of Chinese embroidery and workmanship of various kinds.

Durability of Wood.

The time of cutting wood has very little effect upon its durability if the timber is properly cared for afterward. Late fall or winter cutting is simplest, as the wood seasons more slowly and with less checking, and by warm weather is seasoned enough to be less susceptible to borers and fungi. There is, however, practically no difference in moisture content of green wood in winter and summer.

Drawing By First Lady In Schoolmate's Book

When Mrs. Herbert Hoover and Mrs. Jane B. Eckel of Milwaukee were schoolmates in Clearwater, Kas., Mrs. Hoover—then Lou Henry—made the above drawing in Mrs. Eckel's sketchbook. The blot shown was transformed into a fly by the youthful artist. Inset shows Mrs. Eckel.

Milwaukee, (AP)—The earliest artistic efforts of a little girl named Lou Henry have been discovered in the tattered sketchbook of Mrs. Jane B. Eckel of Milwaukee.

When she was about 10 years old, the girl who was destined to become the first lady of the land gave a pen and ink sketch to Mrs. Eckel. That was in 1887, when both lived in Clearwater, Kas.

Mrs. Eckel remembers Lou Henry as a "clever little girl who liked to paint." They were neighbors in Clearwater.

Last November Mrs. Eckel wrote to Mrs. Herbert Hoover to inquire if she was Lou Henry of the little Kansas town. On her return from South America Mrs. Hoover replied, recalling the time when Mrs. Eckel helped her with an oil painting.

In Mrs. Eckel's sketchbook Lou Henry's signature is written beneath her drawing of a sunbonneted maid and a lad clad in overalls. A blot by the schoolgirl artist had been transformed into a large fly crawling across the page.

At 10:30, eastern standard time, on that night, in 15,000 rural communities Farm Bureau folks will gather round the radio loud speakers to share in a program which is to be broadcast from the Chicago studio of the National Broadcasting Corporation. With Sam H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation in the chair, a community Farm Bureau program such as no community Farm Bureau has ever before been privileged to enjoy, will be placed on the air. Personages of national reputation, representing every phase of the extremely varied agricultural industry will talk. Included will be music and other entertainment features, richly reflecting the simplicity and the sincerity of country life. Definite announcement of names and other program details will be made later.

$85,000 Building At New Paltz

Provided for in Bill Introduced by Assemblyman Davis—Would Be Used for Practice School at New Paltz Normal.

Albany, March 9 (Special)—A bill providing an appropriation of $85,000 for the initial steps in the erection of a practice teaching building at New Paltz Normal School is before the legislature today, having been introduced by Assemblyman Millard Davis of Kerhonkson.

The bill reads:

"The sum of $85,000 or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated by the education department for the construction of foundations for a new building, for a practice school at New Paltz Normal."

The money is to be expended under the direction of Frank P. Graves, commissioner of education, and in accordance with plans and specifications to be prepared or approved as provided by the law.

The bill is in the custody of the ways and means committee, where its fate is problematical. Most appropriation bills received consideration when the fiscal committees of the legislature submitted the revised constitutional executive budget for passage. If the ways and means committee should report this bill, it may meet an obstacle in the way of the governor's signature. The governor, it is believed, would not be inclined to favor appropriations which may of necessity, come from the estimated $5,000,000 surplus in the state treasury for the coming fiscal year. A surplus of less than this sum is regarded as bad financial practice.

Another bill sponsored by Assemblyman Davis adds a provision to the prison law relating to the retirement of officials of state institutions.

New Road Route In Greene County

State Highway Commissioner Brandt Believes New Route Between West Coxsackie and Catskill Is Best—Greene County Officials and Residents Present.

Albany, N. Y., March 9 (Special)—Objections and protests of Greene county officials and residents notwithstanding, Captain Arthur W. Brandt, commissioner of highways of the State Department of Public Works, intends to go ahead this spring with the proposed re-allocation of the West Shore Route 9-W, between West Coxsackie and Catskill, from the present route along the river, to the old King's Highway, back of, and above the existing road.

Residents of Athens and Coxsackie with protesting tones, are seeking to keep the highway department from eliminating their villages from the bulk of the traffic over the West Shore route. The proposed new highway would go back of these villages, changing the main artery of automobile travel between New York and Albany. The villagers would rather have the department expend its money on improving the present thoroughfare north of Catskill village.

Raymond L. Towner, Greene county superintendent of highways, had indicated to Commissioner Brandt that he, too, would like to see the present route maintained, and has said that he reflects the sentiment of most of Greene county.

Commissioner Brandt says his department intends to adhere to its original plan, as outlined earlier this winter and published by The Freeman, for three reasons:

The cost of construction of the new route would be approximately $200,000 less than reconstruction of the present route; it will make for three miles and twenty minutes' travel time shorter than the present route; and it can be constructed without dangerous curves and hills, and can be maintained at a high point of efficiency—something admittedly impossible on the existing road.

Commissioner Brandt's Statement.

"We can construct a highway with perfect grade and alignment on the Old King's Highway," Brandt said. "The cost of construction of a thirty-foot wide road on this route would be $200,000 less than it would cost to build the same route on the existing road. The proposed road lessens the distance between West Coxsackie and Catskill by three miles and we figure it will shorten the route by twenty minutes' travel time.

"The present highway is in bad shape and has spots in it that simply cannot be made into a good road. It is full of dangerous curves and hills and is not capable of bearing heavy traffic.

"I know how the people on the present road feel, and I don't blame them, but it is our business to build roads according to the trend of traffic and build in the best spots we can find. We are cutting out running traffic through the business section of Catskill, in order to avoid going through a narrow street that cannot be widened, and business men there are making no complaints."

Earlier announced plans for reconditioning and rebuilding the road between Kingston and Newburgh have not been altered in the least, Brandt said.

News from the World on Wheels

An increase of 95 per cent in the production and shipment of Oldsmobiles during February as compared to the same month last year is reported today by Oldsmobile officials. During the month just closed—the shortest in the year—10,200 Oldsmobiles were manufactured. A further increase of more than 40 per cent over this record February production is scheduled for March, factory officials announce. During the present month approximately 14,500 Oldsmobiles will be produced to fill domestic and export requirements. Retail sales are keeping pace with the greatly increased production.

Continued and increasing international demand for the new Nash "400" Series cars brought about an increase in shipments of exactly 33 1/3 per cent in February, 1929, over the same month a year ago, it was revealed when final sales and shipping tabulations were made at Nash factory headquarters. The official figures showed a total of 12,076 of the popular new type Nash cars shipped during the month as compared to 9,057 shipped in February a year ago, the orders already received for March shipments indicated that this month, too, will show a substantial business increase.

"UNIVERSAL ENGLISH" IS INVENTED AT CAMBRIDGE

London, March 9 (AP).—Cambridge scientists and scholars have evolved an international language of 500 words.

English is the basic tongue chosen and it is claimed that people of all nations may pick up "panoptic English", as the reduced vocabulary is called, within a few weeks or months, instead of years.

The entire vocabulary of "panoptic English" can be printed on the back of a single sheet of notepaper and seen at a glance.

In the new language the majority are 12 "operators" or fundamental verbs which cover the essential movements of persons and things. They are come, get, give, go, keep, let, make, put, take, be, do and have.

SOME LENTEN REFLECTIONS BUT CONCERNED ENTIRELY WITH SACK CLOTH

An early Easter precludes an early interest in spring clothes. While the Easter parade has lost caste and it is no longer considered obligatory to don new apparel for that day, most women pay tribute to the season if not the day. Owing to its early date this year there is a merry scramble among importers who have just returned from the Paris openings to get the benefit of ideas conceived or inspired by or at the Paris openings.

While the raised waistline was highlighted in most reports it has not followed that the rank and file of American women have accepted the new line unreservedly. A low line is far more flattering to the mature figure and it remains evident that the waistline resting at the top of the hips is the one universally approved.

Skirts have lengthened almost imperceptibly, creeping for evening when they go to great extremes, especially at the back. Fullness is placed well below the hipline, the exception to this being when peplums are introduced which of course widens the figure at this point. Peplums frequently occur on jackets and are in accord with the tendency to use circular skirts for all costumes completed by a jacket. Even on tailored suits, and there are many this spring, the softening, or dressmaker's touch is played up. Scarf, and other soft collar treatments are preferred to severe ones, and the tuck-in blouse which steps out confidently with the new suit, is usually bowed at its neckline. Blouses invariably contrast with the suit, and most dresses follow this lead.

The use of contrasting colors and fabrics extends to hats as well. Hats remain snugly fitted but are taking on unusual brim angles and are frequently Venetian in spirit. The tiny nose veil, which became the craze in Paris last winter may well be a success since these Venetian hats seem to be registering here.

Hosiery shades are now matched to face powder and most approved of course when they blend with the popular suntan. By the aid of sleeveless, and resort dresses cut low in the back the tan is acquired, but when all this is impractical there is always the convenient drug store or beauty parlor ready to produce the desired complexion. It still remains true that the most approved colors are those which enhance the tanned complexion. Pastel shades are most highly endorsed for evening, and yellow is good around the clock, the fashionable yellows being of the citrus range particularly happy in combination with green.

Fabrics are of the greatest importance this season. Cotton and wool are wresting laurels from silk. The lightweight woolen street dress is reclaimed and cotton enters the ballroom as organdie. Chiffons are being stiffened so that they may assume the tulle silhouette. Lace remains and prints, while freely shown and much applauded, do not appear to be of greater interest than they were last season. There are of course more printed party dresses, warp print taffetas being the leader.

Paris seems the new cardigan is not cut away from the throat but has rudimentary lapels or is shaped to fall straight from the throat-base. J. Suzanne Talbot's beige fantasy jersey with incrustations in blue and red illustrates the point. It has a skirt that is flared in front only. Rita

Port Ewen, March 9.—The Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters' fair that was held in Pythian Hall this week closed Friday night. There was a large attendance. Everything was sold and everyone spoke very highly of the fair, considering it one of the best fairs ever held. The country store was a rousing success, the best ever. Several out-of-town people were present and a great many home folks were present each evening. Dancing was the main feature of the evening and was thoroughly enjoyed until midnight. Meisenholder's orchestra of four pieces played very acceptably. The whole affair was a complete success and great credit is due the general committee and their efficient helpers. They wish to extend their thanks to all who helped in any way to make the fair such a success.

New Shoe Store On Wall Street

Endicott-Johnson, a name well known in the shoe trade, has been added to the list of local shoe stores when this morning the company opened a shoe store at 319 Wall street in the J. J. Newberry building. This store was formerly occupied by the Newark Shoe Company, which recently disposed of its stock and closed the store. A feature of the Endicott-Johnson shoe store is a bargain basement.

For years Endicott-Johnson factories at Johnson City, near Binghamton, have produced shoes and the plant is one of the largest in the country with a daily capacity of 140,000 pairs of shoes. During the past few years the company has been establishing its own retail stores. The policy of the company is to share its profits with the employes and promotions are made from within the ranks of the concern. The local store is in charge of E. J. PARTY FROCKS WITH THE CHARM OF YOUTH AND AN AIR OF SOPHISTICATION

New York—Style trends in juvenile circles vary but little from the lines set down for their elders. There are ensembles, compose costumes, plain and printed fabrics, and a multitude of colors and materials for the sub deb and her baby sister. Quite naturally there are modified interpretations of extreme fashions and recurrences of more or less staple styles.

For parties, there are tulles as well as chiffons and charmingly designed frock employing both taffeta and tulle or chiffon. For the really young, hemlines remain broken only so much as pleats and ruffles break their straightness, but for the girl who has risen to the dignity of her teens, there are skirts of uncertain line and dresses which are replicas of those big sister wears.

The so-called nursery colors have widened their sphere and are worn by the most sophisticated so that all the nursery can do is to borrow in turn lavenders, greens and such tones as were heretofore associated with grown ups. The same insistence on matching accessories is noticed among the young fry as elsewhere. As a matter of fact it is traditional almost that a child's hat and coat should match, at least in color, but often in fabric also. Fine tuckings, lingering and drawnwork, smocked bands and ruffles contrive to keep the old young and give the young something of the important bearing of a grown up. There are even quite interesting uses of lace, yokes and sleeveless dresses, to say nothing of tiered skirts for our young daughters and her merry little friends.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
Refrigerator

WHEN the proud owner of a General Electric Refrigerator takes her friends in to see it, the first comment is "Why it's so quiet—you can barely hear it." The unique construction has established a new standard for quiet operation.

This design, however, accomplishes something even more important. It makes possible the top-unit arrangement. Placing the unit on top makes it possible to enclose all the machinery in an hermetically sealed steel casing. There, always oiled, it remains safe from dust and difficulties. No one can tinker with it—no one ever needs to.

Quietly, economically, the General Electric Refrigerator gives you the perfect refrigeration that does away with food spoilage and safeguards health. It provides a generous supply of ice cubes.

A small amount down and conveniently spaced payments buys any model. Come in today.

Listen in on the General Electric Hour, broadcast every Saturday Evening, 9 to 10, Eastern Standard Time, over the N. B. C. network of forty-two stations.

THE INDEPENDENT FARMER.

The American farm problem must have become serious indeed when an official of the Department of Agriculture (Dr. C. J. Galpin) can be quoted, in condensed form, as insisting that "there are all sorts of discriminations against the farmer; not only historic discriminations but present-day discriminations, nature discriminations, government discriminations, business discriminations, social economy discriminations and national religious discriminations". We have all heard of most of the others, but "national religious discrimination" is a new one, and it is but natural to wonder just what form it takes and how it operates, even if it can really be included in the "divers forms of prejudicial and unfair treatment" of which the American farmer is proclaimed to be the victim.

The incredible charge of "national religious discrimination" was hardly necessary to cause Dr. Galpin to be regarded as extravagant, for he complains bitterly of the "fickle turns" of nature—that same "bounteous nature" which has been blessed by poets and philosophers (and farmers) in all ages. In some sections of the ancient world farming was regarded as the most honorable of pursuits, and in all countries until recent times it was regarded as the most independent. Does not the farmer produce his own food, and even in case of famine or war can he not hide and keep much of it for himself? No later than the World War he did just that, the peasant farmers of Europe keeping fat while their town neighbors nearly starved. Of course the American farmer of these times has much to complain of, but he still retains a certain precious independence and in future crises he may be the envy of all town dwellers—notwithstanding the (quoted) lamentations of Dr. Galvin of the Department of Agriculture.

END OF ONE PASSPORT FEE.

Italy has abolished the $10 visa charge for tourist passports, and it is to be hoped that England, France and other European countries will follow this wisely ordered example. But this can hardly be expected until similar action is taken at Washington. "Those who have complained," notes the Philadelphia Record, "seem to overlook the fact that it was this country that started the practice. They also disregard the willingness of Britain and France, the two tourist-drawing countries which still make this charge, to abolish the visa tax if the United States consents to reciprocate. We have abolished the charge, but for tourists only. As the overwhelming majority of those who enter this country from Europe do not come under this classification, our cancellation of the tax is more of a gesture than a reality. It is poor business for Congress to insist that this tax be maintained. It brings about $500,000 annually. But, it is estimated, the American people pay out every year some $7,000,000 to the foreign countries which still demand their $10 per head."

Possibly one trouble at Washington is the supposition of rural statesmen that foreign travel is still enjoyed only by the rich who can pay visa charges as readily as the average citizen tosses a small coin to a bootblack. As a matter of fact, European travel is now undertaken by countless school teachers and poor students for educational advantage, these employ hard-earned savings in this way, and it is a real hardship for them to have to pay $10 at the frontier of every country they enter, particularly after paying for a passport before leaving home.

Although aware that many will regard her as "a scab, a blackleg, a traitor and backslider in these days of feminine emancipation," Marjorie Wells, writing in the March North American Review, boldly avows herself, at the age of 28, as the "unrepentant" mother of 10 children. Her contentment in husband and children and her absolute sincerity are unmistakable as she writes: "For myself I am deeply thankful for all those enriching accidents which permit me the pride and delight of an old-fashioned family."

For the second time in the last dozen years the legislature of Massachusetts has voted not to revoke the sentence of banishment passed upon Roger Williams (as a religious heretic from the Puritan point of view) in 1635. Of course Massachusetts is now ready to tolerate any set of religious opinions. Its legislature's action or inaction is merely an example of the same American conservatism which keeps the provision for slavery and the surrender of fugitive slaves in the Constitution of the United States to this day.

According to the Chicago Daily News, "any official who opposes the extension of the merit principle to an agency or office still operated under the vicious and wasteful spoils policy thereby proclaims his own unfitness to serve the public and discloses his mental or moral littleness." The merit system is so widely approved that politicians give it lip-service in public even while doing their utmost to get around it in practice. In this, however, they are fully as consistent as the politicians who "vote dry and drink wet."

A bill to permit the woman voter to register without confessing her age is recommended by the Philadelphia Record on the ground that "women do not want equal rights; as always, since the world began, they want special privilege."

A dollar a word for all that Mr. Coolidge writes may not solve the much discussed problem of "what to do with ex-Presidents," but that added to the savings of an apostle of thrift will surely keep the wolf from the door.

EMOTIONAL DISTURBANCES.

One of the distressing occurrences of the last flu epidemic was the number of individuals who faithfully nursed or waited on afflicted loved ones, and then after the loved one was out of danger, they themselves took the flu and many passed away.

Th natural conclusion of course is that they worked so hard to save their loved ones that they undermined their strength and so had not the resistence to successfully fight the flu when they themselves were attacked.

Now while this is true there was another factor that entered into it, that is not generally recognized.

Although these individuals worked hard physically, there was also the tremendous anxiety and worry about the patient, and this anxiety and worry was a big factor in undermining their resistance.

Drs. Heilig and Hoff reported some experimental work in three women who were troubled frequently with "fever blisters" about the mouth. These fever blisters occurred after any unpleasant emotional experience. They hypnotized these patients, suggested to them an unpleasant experience, and at the same time suggested to them that the fever blisters would occur on their lips.

In each of these cases the fever blisters occurred within forty-eight hours.

Hypnotizing them and suggesting the attack of fever blisters, but not suggesting the unpleasant emotional experience, failed to bring on the attack of fever blisters.

They tested out the blood for its power to fight harmful organisms, in the normal state, and two or three hours after the emotional disturbance undergone under hypnotism they tested it out again.

In every case under the hypnotism and emotional disturbance there was a reduction in the power of the blood to fight harmful organisms. They conclude that the natural defense of the blood to infection is lowered by unpleasant emotional experiences.

We can now understand why some individuals who have undergone periods of grief and sorrow fall easy victims to illness. Their emotional disturbances have weakened their powers of resistance.

DUCE PROHIBITS PUBLIC SUBSCRIPTIONS IN 1929

Rome, March 9 (AP).—Public subscriptions, no matter how worthy their object, remain strictly prohibited throughout Italy for 1929 by Mussolini's orders.

The only exception provided for is the sending to Mussolini himself of state bonds or paper money, to be destroyed in order to reduce the internal debt. Subscriptions of that character are still being received at the premier's office, and long lists of patriotic donors are displayed in the newspapers every other day or so.

"My Thirty Years at Sea"

By CAPTAIN GEORGE FRIED

A captain's life is not wholly one of glamour and adventure. Coupled with his responsibility for safety and care of crew and passengers are the scores of petty questions and traveling problems that come to him for decision. Some of Fried's troubles and their attendant serious and humorous sidelights are told in this chapter.

By CAPT. GEORGE FRIED
[Copyright, 1929, Associated Press]

CHAPTER XII

Supervising the operation of the vessel is not always the master's greatest difficulties. There are times when he might wish he were a sort of walking encyclopedia. He must answer questions concerning the ship, storms, water and hundreds of other subjects pertaining to the sea and should always be ready to tell stories, especially in the dining saloon.

Catering to the traveling public and protecting it also are the tasks of the captain. On the North Atlantic the professional gambler hunts his prey, especially at the height of the tourists season. Warnings are posted in conspicuous places against the professional gambler, but sometimes the unwary tourist, wishing to pass the time away innocently in a small game, gets in the web. The gambler always starts in a small way and only begins to win when the stakes get large. Many of these card sharps are known to the officers of the ships but now and then a new one comes along. I recall meeting a couple on the deck one day, an attractively dressed pair, who greeted me effusively. During the conversation the woman referred to her 14 pieces of baggage. This struck me as rather strange. I inquired and found there was no baggage in the hold belonging to that couple. I was suspicious. Later I saw them playing cards.

"....I Was Suspicious. Later I Saw Them Playing Cards...."

They were winning. I warned their would-be victim, but he did not take me seriously. He fully appreciated the situation the next day when he won and they refused to give him cash, insisting that he accept a check. The gamblers had allowed him to win to vary the monotony. The matter was brought to my attention and the cash turned over at my request. No further games were held in which the pair participated for the remainder of the voyage. The victim of a swindle of this type sometimes takes his medicine rather than let anyone know that he has been "taken over," thereby hurting his reputation.

The ship's pool satisfies the average traveler who wishes to gamble. The pool is made up by passengers who pay from one to several dollars for a ticket. Each ticket is numbered. Sometimes it is auctioned off to the highest bidder.

When the ship's run is posted the ticket bearing the number comparing with the last numeral of the mileage is the winner.

Settling disputes also go to the captain. One that caused me considerable embarrassment for a while was the case of a woman who left a valuable dog with the butcher. The butcher by the way, takes charge of dogs for the voyage. The trip was rough. The woman became seasick. Meanwhile the dog had four pups, three of which died. They were cast overboard. When the woman recovered she was told of the disposition of the dead pups. She refused to believe the story, declaring that the pups were still alive and that some steward was keeping them to sell in port because anyone could tell by looking at the mother that they were very valuable dogs. I do not know if she ever believed the story, but I do know that when we transport canaries and a bird dies a wing is clipped and presented to the consignee as evidence. The same with foxes. The tail of the animal is cut off and submitted as absolute evidence of death.

Then there was a time when the captain performed marriages at sea, but even before the practice was abolished by the Shipping Board I had decided to give it up because they did not always seem "to take." Sailors should confine their tying of knots to ropes, I think. My first marriage was performed in the English channel en route from Cherbourg to Southampton. The parties concerned were on the staff of the League of Nations. They had to be American citizens, of course, to be married on an American ship. The formality is very much like that ashore except that the words "according to the laws of the sea" are used instead of the state in which the ceremony is taking place. Six months later the couple returned to the United States to get a divorce.

The life of the captain also has its humorous sides. I was making a routine inspection when I discovered the ship's bootblack industriously polishing shoes that were just outside of a stateroom door.

"You have a room to polish shoes in," I said. "Why don't you go below to do your work?"

"It's impossible, sir," he explained, "these shoes belong to a Scotchman in this cabin and he is holding the laces on the other side of the door." It was not right for me to stop the man in his work. That is part of service to passengers.

PALESTINE FINDS MORE PREHISTORIC EVIDENCE

Jerusalem, March 9 (AP).—Preliminary investigation by the antiquities department of the Palestine government of large caves in the foothills opposite Athlit, south of Haifa, show the area to be the most important prehistoric site so far discovered in Palestine.

Its situation at the mouth of a valley within easy reach both of the sea and of the hill country, its strategic position for defense, its water supplies and its natural caves indicate that it was a place where primitive man was able to obtain all the primary necessities of life.

"HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL" — By John Cassel

WEST SHOKAN.

West Shokan, March 9.—Typical March weather is being experienced, Thursday being a very squally and blustery day, followed by near zero temperature. The frost is going out of the roads in places on the road over West Shokan Heights. Julian Eckert became marooned with his Nash coupe near M. Dwyer's, which necessitated being pulled out of the mud with his team of horses.

Judge Weidner reports that he and his sapping crew are being kept quite busy gathering and boiling the sap.

Lauren Hesley has moved his wood sawing outfit back to the Pratt Boice wood lot where he has several days' work for Charles Barber and son, who are filling a firewood contract for William Colange.

Charles North, who is visiting relatives at Bushkill, was on Thursday a business caller at West Shokan Heights. He expects to return to Congers on Sunday where he has employment.

Miss Hester Robbins of Bushkill was an incoming passenger on the Thursday afternoon bus.

Harry Braithwaite, the popular nurseryman and florist of Shokan, was entertained on Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Snyder at the Traver Hollow Inn.

A factory representative of the Hercules Body Company was demonstrating to a local prospective customer on Wednesday the new type of dump body mechanism mounted upon the chassis of a new 6 cylinder Chevrolet truck.

James McMullen of Brodhead had his supply of firewood sawed one day this week.

Cornelia Davis did not feel well enough to attend school on Thursday.

Marvin Vandemark is busily engaged in splitting his season's supply of firewood. Marvin is an old-time lumberman of vast experience and between times is an interesting conversationalist.

Mr. and Mrs. James Burgher of Maple Dell Farm were recent callers at Mrs. Watson Bishop's.

M. Floyd Terwilliger of Ashokan was a business caller here on Thursday.

Mr. Hogan, the Drake Remedy man of Kingston visited local customers Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepard Bell of the West Shokan Inn have had their house and the Inn wired for electric lights. The work was done by a Kingston contracting firm.

Professor Condon on his trip to Woodstock on Thursday experienced very severe driving conditions due to the heavy snow squalls.

Some of the old-timers will recall and Shepard Bell is one of the surviving members of the famous "Mountain Stars" a local base ball club organized in the early seventies. The following were the players composing the team: Shepard Bell, Clarence Markle, John Windrum (Carpenter John), Brookie Bevier, Gilbert Francis, Levi Elmendorf, Henry Winnie, Rees Krum, Tot Davis. The base ball field was on the flat at the east end of the old Shokan bridge. In these days baseball gloves were unknown, except taking a new pair of soft gloves and cutting off the fingers. Many were the famous teams of that day which crossed bats with and were defeated by these "Mountain Stars." Mr. Bell's fingers carry today mute evidence of those historic battles of the diamond. Mr. Bell also was in his young days a long distance runner of considerable renown, having met and defeated on the old baseball ground the champion distance runner of the time. He held the championship of the area between New York and Albany. Although his hair is whitened by the passing of 53 summers, Mr. Bell could it is believed, after working off some of his winter's surplus avoirdupois still kick up considerable dust.

All are indeed pleased to hear that the condition of Mrs. Orrville Barber is considerably improved, and it is hoped that she may leave the hospital in a few days and return to her home.

Gene Every of Shokan was a local visitor Thursday. It's a pretty good sign that spring is not far off as Gene pays a visit here each year just about the time the winter breaks.

Claud Bell fears that unless the electric line comes through in the near future, he will have to use kerosene lamps, as his Delco storage batteries are about all in.

Mrs. Michael Dwyer is still confined to the house. She has been ailing all winter.

Dorothy Barringer of Krumville is a local visitor.

INDIAN FLAPPER WEARS POUNDS OF GLASS BEADS.

Palm Beach, Fla. (AP).—While two and a half yards of material will make a sports dress for the average white maid, 25 yards are required for the dress of the Seminole Indian girl who lives near her fashionable sister here.

The Seminole maiden's skirt measures seven yards around, and she often uses her last year's dress for a petticoat. The Indian girl, too, goes the Palm Beach social leader one better when it comes to a galaxy of color. Bits of calico are patiently sewed together in intricate patterns and bizarre color combinations to rival the best modernistic designers.

No dowager in the opera box ever wore more jewelry than the Seminole girl does beads. Beads are her weakness. Her neck is encircled by row upon row of the brightly colored strings. Many a Seminole girl of 18 has 50 yards of beads around her neck and often they weigh as much as 30 pounds. The beads are accumulated from her infancy and finally are buried with her.

Lofty Cliff

The Island of Foula (from the Norse, meaning "bird Island"), the most westerly of the Shetland Isles, is said to have the highest cliff in Britain—a sheer drop of 1,220 feet to the sea. There is only one landing place on the island, and that is in the village of Ham.

AROUND THE WORLD

Wallertheim, Germany, March 9 (AP).—Traces have been discovered here of human beings who lived 110,000 years ago. Scientists recently found skeletons of men with big skulls and mouths like spouts.

Peking (AP).—General Wu Pei-fu, conqueror of Chang Tso-lin and once the most powerful figure in China is a lonely exile. He spends his time studying the Bible and Buddhism and writing poetry.

Cairo, Egypt (AP).—An old Arab in Fayum is either the oldest man in the world or the greatest romanticist. He claims to have been born in 1776 and to be as old as the American Declaration of Independence.

Hamburg, Germany (AP).—The village clock of Cursiack stopped after running continuously since 1561. It has shown the correct time for 368 years.

Paris (AP).—Small fortunes await nearly 100 persons in unclaimed government bond bonuses. One lucky number calls for $40,000 and 25 others range from $4,000 to $20,000.

Dublin (AP).—The Free State will soon appoint ministers to Paris and Berlin with the same status as the minister to Washington. The plan has the support of all parties.

Sydney, Australia (AP).—The aborigines of northern and central Australia, where drought has persisted for seven years, are said to be dying rapidly of starvation. A relief movement has been started.

Vienna (AP).—A 3,000-horsepower railway locomotive, said to be the largest and most powerful in Europe, has been built here for use on steep Alpine grades. Auxiliary engines as pushers on mountain routes are entirely dispensed with by the new locomotive.

Shanghai (AP).—The Chinese government hopes to link all parts of China by telephone. A plan to construct 5,000 miles of lines annually for seven years has been announced.

Tokyo (AP).—There are about 3,000 millionaires in Japan. Thirty-nine of the 50 wealthiest Japanese live in Tokyo. The Mitsui family top the list with a combined capital of $750,000,000.

Copenhagen (AP).—Mrs. Thit Jensen, Danish feminist and traveler, says American men are the "best" in the world. She is Denmark's foremost champion of feminine rights.

New Providence, Bahama Islands (AP).—Governor Sir Charles Orr suspended all immigration from Cuba, Bermuda, Jamaica, Turks Island and British Honduras for a year. First-class passengers and tourists will be permitted to land.

Moscow (AP).—The Soviet government has forbidden the opening of new liquor shops in industrial cities. The sale of vodka is also prohibited on holidays, pay days and in public places such as theatres, clubs and hotels.

Sark, England (AP).—The Channel island Brechou, one-quarter mile west of Sark, has been offered for sale. The buyer will obtain a seat in the Parliament of Sark. He will be his own constituency.

Mexico City (AP).—The treasury department has equipped an athletic field for its employes. An order has been issued providing for compulsory, daily, physical exercise.

Budapest (AP).—More maternity homes and child welfare centers will be opened here. The Hungarian government has adopted the strategy of Premier Mussolini to increase the birth rate.

ALBANIAN RULER WOULD SUPPRESS FEUDAL MURDERS

Tirana, Albania, March 9 (AP).—Premier Mussolini's success in exterminating the vendetta from Sicily and Sardinia has inspired King Zogu to crack the whip over Albania in a similar effort to suppress blood feuds.

It took Mussolini four years to round up the leaders of the Mafia, an association committed to redressing grievances by the knife and pistol and to purge the country of the Mafia's tyranny. Whether King Zogu will succeed in a similar daring reform is considered doubtful, because the practice of blood feuds in this remote and unsettled country is founded upon the tradition of a thousand years. In Albania a single case of homicide often leads to a series of similar crimes or to protracted warfare between neighboring families and communities. The murderer, as a rule, knowing that his life is in danger, takes refuge in the mountains or remains for years secluded in the house.

Mountain tribes in central Albania, instead of bringing their differences before the courts of law, seek satisfaction by violence. Many Albanians perish by the sword, because the vendetta system decrees that blood must be washed with blood. No offense is ever forgiven by the Albanian.

Sometimes a truce (besa) is arranged by mediation. It is the Mufti or the local village mayor, who brings the two adversaries together. The truce is of temporary character, as nothing but blood can repair an outrage to an Albanian's honor. The truce is observed loyally by both parties, but when it expires the feud is resumed with renewed vigor; until redress has been obtained by the knife.

WOMEN ZIONISTS SEEK LAND IN PALESTINE.

Detroit (AP).—With the launching of a program to raise $60,000 to apply on the purchase of 625 acres of Haifa bay land, Hadassah, the Women's Zionist organization of America is making its first effort to acquire a tract of land in Palestine.

The raising of the fund will be accomplished through the Jewish National Fund Council of Hadassah, of which Mrs. Frieda Silbert Ullian of Detroit is national chairman. Heretofore the council, which is the women's division of the Jewish National Fund, the Zionist land purchasing agents in Palestine, confined itself to contributing to the general fund.

The 625 acres to be purchased by the council will be part of the tract of 8,250 acres acquired by the national fund. This land is expected to have considerable value when the construction of a harbor at Haifa is begun in a few months. Hadassah has 285 chapters throughout the country and each one will be assigned its quota in raising the $60,000. The membership of the organization is 45,000.

MOTOR HIGHWAY LINKS STAMBOUL AND ANGORA

Angora, Turkey, March 9 (AP).—Turkey's remote, isolated new capital city is to be brought more swiftly and closely in touch with Europe through the Turkish government's construction of an asphalt speedway connecting Angora with Constantinople.

This first automobile boulevard in Turkey will bring the Asiatic fortress-capital of the new republic within five to six hours' distance by motor to Constantinople, Turkey's metropolis and European outpost.

Modern Turkey will speed over the same road in American and European high-power cars, but at Ada-Bazaar it will swerve from the old holy trail toward the north, for its Mecca is now Angora.

Church And School Notes

(By The Associated Press.)

Albany, N. Y., March 9 (AP).—The term of the Rev. Peter F. Cusick, S. J., as president of Canisius College at Buffalo, will end not later than July 16, according to a recent announcement.

Under the rules of the Jesuit order, which conducts the college, the president is appointed by the father-general of the order at Rome for a period of three years and may be reappointed once. Father Cusick was reappointed in 1926.

The proposed merger of the Presbyterian and Methodist Episcopal Churches in America, approved at Pittsburgh by representatives of both denominations, was endorsed by ministers and laymen of the Buffalo Presbytery at their quarterly meeting recently.

The resolution endorsing the proposed consolidation was read by the Rev. Murray Shipley Howland, pastor of Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church, Buffalo, who reported for the special committee on organic union. Mr. Howland declared that the merger would pave the way for consolidation of all evangelical churches in the country.

The meeting was attended by delegates from Chautauqua, Erie, Cattaraugus and Niagara counties.

Salary increases for teachers in Buffalo schools have been approved by the board of education. The increases, to be spread over a period of three years, range from $100 on minimum salaries to $700 on maximum salaries.

Supreme Court Justice Abraham L. Kellogg has donated $100,000 as an endowment fund for the central rural school at Treadwell, where he was born. Justice Kellogg previously had donated about $25,000 toward the school which has been named the Abraham L. Kellogg School in his honor.

RADIO LAWS TO KEEP NEIGHBORHOOD PEACE.

Washington, (AP).—To preserve the peace of the neighborhood and to protect both the listener and non-listener, several states and cities have invoked the police power in the regulation of radio.

A survey of these laws and ordinances taken by the legal department of the federal radio Commission discloses a wide variety of legislation designed to curb interference, protect the public from the din of loud speakers, prevent fires, restrict the location of broadcasting stations and govern the installation of transmitting and receiving sets.

Detroit has one of the most drastic ordinances. The operation of a noise making or noise amplifying instrument by which the peace of the neighborhood is disturbed is made a nuisance and the operation of any radio in any public or private place which disturbs or annoys persons owning or occupying property in the neighborhood is a misdemeanor.

Oakland, Cal., has a similar ordinance and Memphis has drafted an ordinance to regulate the use of receivers in business establishments. The proposed law excepts musical instruments in the home. Spokane has a typical ordinance. It makes unlawful the operation of any instrument which causes electrical interference with radio reception between 5 p. m. and midnight. X-ray pictures or examinations are allowed in cases of emergency.

A Minneapolis ordinance provides that no broadcasting station may be operated within the city without a municipal permit. An annual fee is exacted of broadcasters. The operation of a transmitter in the city limits is prohibited if the power is more than 500 watts.

Minnesota has a law which requires the broadcasting of information helpful in locating stolen property and the apprehension of wrongdoers. A fire protection measure in St. Louis prescribes how installations of transmitters and receivers may be made. A Michigan act gives the public utilities commission authority to prohibit the operation of two or more stations within the state simultaneously if interference in reception results.

OFFICE CAT

By Jenkins

Nervous Patient: Will the anesthetic make me sick?

Doctor: No, I think not.

Patient: How long will it be before I know anything?

Doctor: Aren't you expecting too much of an anesthetic?

Lady: "But don't you find that horseback riding gives one a headache?"

Instructor: "No, madam, just the reverse."

Lodger—Look here, I'm going to leave this place. The towels are not clean and I never can find any soap.

Landlady—Haven't you got a tongue in your head?

Lodger—Yes, but I'm not a cat.

"Bridget, has Johnnie come home from school yet?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have you seen him?"

"No, sir."

"Then how do you know he's home?"

"'Cause the cat's hidden under the stove, sir."

BUSINESS IS BUSINESS

Business is business, but men are men,
Working, loving and dreaming,
Toiling with hammer, brush or pen,
Hoisterling, planning, scheming.

Business is business, but he's a fool
Whose business has grown to smother
His faith in men and the Golden Rule,
His love for friend and brother.

Business is business, but life is life
So we're all in the game to win it.
Let's rest sometimes from the heat and strife
And try to be friends a minute.

Let's seek to be comrades now and then
And slip from our golden tether,
Business is business, but men are men,
And we're all good friends together.

When John wrote back from college that he was playing quarterback, his dad went downtown and told that his boy was now a "hind quarter at football."

Ho, Hum!

If wishes were horses beggars would ride,
If it wasn't for studies schools would be grand,
If it wasn't for work jobs would be great.
If it wasn't for tempers wives would be angels.
If it wasn't for faults husbands would be perfect.
If it wasn't for IF the world would be heaven.

LEAGUE'S SLAVERY REPORT EXAMINES U. S. CONDITIONS

Geneva, (AP).—A report on human slavery and forced labor throughout the world, just issued by the International Labor Bureau of the League of Nations, states that the practice of leasing negro prisoners to private employers exists in several southern states of the United States.

The report will be used as a basis for preliminary negotiations at a conference to be held in Geneva this year for the abolition of involuntary servitude in all its forms.

That section dealing with the United States begins with citing the thirteenth amendment to the constitution which says that neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as punishment for crime wherof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist, within the United States, and any place subject to their jurisdiction.

As evidence to prove the existence of leasing negro prisoners the report then prints an extract from the book of an American writer, Edward Byron Reuter "The American Race Problem," which alleges that in the case of negro petty offenders it has been customary to impose a fine-work sentence. By this, says the quoted author, it is meant that the offender has the choice between paying a cash fine or working a specified number of days in a chain gang.

The report defines forced labor as "all work or service which is exacted under menace of any penalty for its non-performance and for which the worker concerned does not offer himself voluntarily." The bureau does not suggest that any international convention regulating forced labor which might be adopted should prevent the selfgoverning people of an independent state from imposing compulsory labor upon themselves. The forced labor dealt with in the report is that of dependent peoples, whether found in independent states, colonies or mandated territories, who can be compelled by existing laws and regulations to work on plantations for private employers, or on public works of various kinds. The experts say:

"It would indeed be of little use solemnly to abolish slavery if conditions of employment analogous to slavery were still to be maintained in the form of forced labor. For this reason the assembly of the League of Nations in 1926, after adopting an international slavery convention, passed a resolution drawing attention to the importance of the work being undertaken by the International Labor Office with a view to studying the best means of preventing forced or compulsory labor from developing into conditions analogous to slavery."

"NITRATE COUNTRY" IS WORLD'S DRIEST SPOT

Antofagasta, Chile, March 9 (AP).—There are never any prayers for rain in Antofagasta, Iquique and other Chilean cities which live only by the grace of nitrate.

In fact there are prayers for dry weather on the few days when a light mist falls. A heavy rain, which is unlikely, as there never has been one in the memory of the oldest inhabitants, would mean ruin to the nitrate fields. It would dissolve the nitrate of sodium in the "caliche".

"Caliche" is the most important word in the Chilean vocabulary. It is the name given to the mineral in which nitrate of sodium is found along with a number of other salts.

Chile's nitrate zone is a desert plateau lying between 2,000 and 5,000 feet above the sea. This plateau is over 200 miles long and some 40 miles wide. It is bounded on the east by the Andes and on the ocean side by a lower range of mountains.

Scientists estimate that Chile has enough nitrate to supply American and European farmers with fertilizer for 300 years.

But the monopoly which Chile had of nitrate before the great war forced belligerent powers to extract nitrogen from the air has been broken and the Chilean industry is nervously watching the work of scientists who are playing strange pranks with Mother Nature.

Synthetic nitrate, that is nitrate manufactured by taking nitrogen from the air, has become a terrifying competitor of the Chilean product. Germany, the United States, Czecho-Slovakia, Japan and several other countries which use nitrate manufactured it on a large scale.

As Chile imposes an export tax of $12.50 a ton on nitrate and derives about one-third of her national income from this source, the problem is a serious one.

There is a furious battle on between scientists who are fighting to reduce the cost of both the synthetic and natural nitrate.

Producers of naural nitrate say it is better than the synthetic product. But the artificial nitrate has been proved to be very satisfactory, and it is now clearly a question of price.

The Guggenheim interests have developed a new method of producing natural nitrate which is expected to make it possible to land Chilean nitrate in American ports for slightly more than $30 a ton.

DE VALERA ADVOCATES HIGHER IRISH TARIFF

Limerick, Ireland, March 9 (AP).—Eamon de Valera, Irish republican leader, denounced free trade in a recent speech as a menace to the Irish Free State. He declared that the interests of Ireland demanded a policy of protective tariffs.

"We must be prepared to make some sacrifices," he said. "We might have to wear less fashionable though not less serviceable shoes, hats and hosiery."

VICAR SAYS CHURCH BELLS ARE NUISANCE

Derby, England, March 9 (AP)—The Rev. C. A. Page, vicar of St. Michael's Church says that church bells should be classed with Scottish bagpipes and night-prowling cats.

The vicar's little church stands almost in the shadow of Derby Cathedral whose chimes sound frequently. "Church bells are to me like a red rag to a bull," he told friends.

Toast and Coffee— the American Breakfast

TOAST and coffee—they go together as inseparably as bacon and eggs—and in American homes they often constitute the entire breakfast menu. Small wonder then that coffee must be done to perfection, fragrant and steaming hot, and the toast crisp and golden. Prepared at the table with electric toaster and percolator, toast and coffee can be perfect every time.

Snap! and the electric toaster browns bread into crunchy goodness. Snap! and the electric percolator brews coffee that "just hits the spot".

Electric table appliances speed up the work of meal preparation—that's why the well equipped home has so many of them.

March is national toaster and percolator month. The electric league members in your community have a complete line of toasters and percolators. Why not save yourself extra work by preparing breakfast at the table each morning with the aid of an electric toaster and percolator? Moderate prices make them available for all homes.

Government Strategy Revealed.

Departure of General Calles from Mexico City and practical entire shifting of activity from north to south made clearer than ever the government strategy of sweeping clean in Vera Cruz before attending to house cleaning in the north. So scattered is the revolutionary movement in Vera Cruz and the south now it can hardly be counted as at all threatening.

On the other hand the decisive battle of the revolt may occur shortly in a clash between the combined forces of General Urbalejo and General Escobar, and the army of General Calles.

Joining the army of General Calles from the east will be the columns of General Andreu Almazan and General Eulogio Ortiz. General Almazan arrived at Saltillo, capital of the state of Coahuila, Thursday night from Monterey, and joined with the troops of General Ortiz, arriving from Paredon, Coahuila.

Number of Men Engaged.

The government statement does not give the number of troops on either side but it is understood General Escobar has between 2,000 and 3,000 men at Torreon and General Urbalejo probably 1,000 or 2,000 at Canitas and Durango.

The combined Ortiz-Almazan forces probably number about 8,000 men, while there are probably about 18,000 men in the army moving north from Irapuato.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 9 (AP).—The price movement completely reversed itself in today's stock market, prices rallying briskly at the opening and then turning reactionary under heavy week-end profit-taking and bear selling. Trading was moderately heavy, the day's sales aggregating 1,500,000 shares.

Despite the high money rates and warnings against securities' inflation pools were again aggressively at work in a fairly large assortment of specialties. Radio issues were again the feature, the old stock soaring 19 points to a new high record at 464, or 96 points above Wednesday's low, and the new moving up to a new record at 93½. Both fell back sharply from the highs on the reiteration by President Harbord, of the Radio Corporation, that no merger negotiations with the Western Union Company were under way or contemplated.

Prices rallied briskly in the last few minutes when a heavy demand developed for Kennecott Copper, which advanced to a new top at 93½. Radio, old, which had broken to 451 rallied to 461.

The break in the radio issues unsettled the general list, with selling pressure most effective against the copper, steel and merchandising issues. Many of the early gains were wiped out, and a fairly representative list of stocks, including U. S. Steel Common, Anaconda, American Can, International Harvester and New York Central, sold one to three points below yesterday's final quotations.

Establishment of a new low record for the year by the Canadian dollar revived hopes of further gold imports from that country. But this was offset by the possibility of a further increase in the Bank of England discount rate because the recent decline in Sterling threatened a further drain on Great Britain's limited gold supply.

Farm Relief First For Extra Session

Tariff Comes Next on Program of House, With Congressional Reapportionment Third—House and Senate Leaders Predict Action Within a Week.

Washington, March 9 (AP).—The legislative program of the coming special congressional session and the question whether farm relief legislation should originate in the House or Senate were placed before President Hoover today by leaders of both branches of Congress.

Chairman McNary of the Senate agricultural committee, and Chairman Snell of the House rules committee, called at the White House to ascertain Hoover's views and it developed that both House and Senate propose to have a farm bill ready for consideration when the special session convenes on April 15.

Snell said that as drawn up at present the legislative program of the House is first of all farm relief, then the tariff, and later, if a measure is passed by the Senate, congressional reapportionment. He predicted that the House would dispose of farm relief within a week.

McNary said he expected his committee also to have a farm bill drawn up by the beginning of the special session, and he predicted, too, that his branch of congress could dispose of it in a week. The senator said that hearings would be initiated shortly with the bill which he introduced at the last session of congress as a basis of discussion.

The Administration View.

The view of the administration, as unofficially made known, is that the House should devote itself first of all to the tariff, since such legislation must originate there, with the Senate meanwhile considering a farm measure.

The purpose of this plan is to enable both branches of congress to make the best use of their time.

Another caller from Capitol Hill today was Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, who congratulated the President on his stand with respect to prohibition enforcement as enunciated in his inaugural address.

Meanwhile, it was made known that the members of Mr. Hoover's proposed law enforcement commission would not be settled finally for at least a month.

Ailing Heart Requires Quiet, Rest to Get Well

Take care of your heart. You have only one. You give it a huge amount of work to do and it does it without telling you how you are mistreating it. But when it does rebel and tells you, pay attention to the warnings.

This is the advice of Dr. Louis M. Warfield, writing in Hygeia, the health magazine published by the American Medical association.

Doctor Warfield describes the evidence of a worn-out heart. You are short of breath on exertion that had not previously produced distress. You may notice that your shoes are tight in the evenings, but that you have no difficulty in putting them on the next morning. Then one day you take cold; the next day you are short of breath, you have a distressing cough and your feet are swollen.

As soon as the symptoms are relieved the average person wants to get up, rather than go about slowly and gradually getting back to his usual activity. It would not be unmitigated bad fortune for a person with a bad heart to have a broken leg, too, Doctor Warfield declares.

Washington As a Young Man

At the age of seventeen, Washington had become one of the most accurate surveyors in Virginia. A year later he was appointed public surveyor of the state. He gave up this position and was made a colonel of the Virginian troops. Consideration for the smallest detail—an attitude characteristic of the service we render.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Rio De Janeiro—Brazilian coffee is to be easily identifiable. Every berry is to be stamped. An electric machine will mark a sackful a minute.

Nassau, Bahamas—Enormous rats have been climbing trees and sucking the milk from cocoanuts. To stop them planters are putting bands of iron around the palms, a few feet from the ground.

Los Angeles—As if the approach of March 15 is not enough, high-salaried movie stars have been bunked by "income tax counsellors." The federal grand jury is investigating.

Sarasota, Fla.—Which would win in a fight between an eagle and a rooster? Well, Ed Zwingli, a dairyman, is having the remains of an eagle mounted as a trophy and is attending to a wounded Plymouth Rock. And he has his wife's eye-witness testimony to the battle. She stopped it. The eagle was six feet one inch from tip to tip.

Paris—Marshal Foch has sent a letter to the City of Vincennes, which named a street for him: "You did it too early or waited too long."

Columbus, Ohio—Richard R. Bloss, vice president of the International Derrick and Equipment Company, broke a leg in a railroad wreck in Colombia and has come 2,000 miles to have it attended to. He flew 500 miles to the coast to catch a steamer.

Los Angeles—Sally Phipps, 17-year-old film star, earns $225 a week. The amount was revealed by a suit charging her stepfather with dissipating her earnings.

Baden Baden, Germany—The American Heraldic Society has traced the ancestry of Herbert Hoover to Andreas Huber, who emigrated in 1749 from Baden Baden to Maryland.

New York—Among the admirers of Lindbergh is Mrs. Calvin Coolidge. The New York Daily News quotes her as saying at Northampton: "There never was anyone so charming and naive, I think. Isn't it nice to think he is having such a beautiful romance?"

Good Story Unveiled

The British war office has been unable to find any evidence supporting the legend that the original Thomas Atkins was a private soldier whose name became familiar because he fell dead of wounds while in the act of delivering a message to the duke of Wellington during the Waterloo campaign.

Cause of Anemia

Anemia means a deficiency of hemoglobin. This is the red coloring matter to be found in the red corpuscles of the blood. People frequently diagnose cases of anemia without having anything more to base it on than that "tired" feeling.

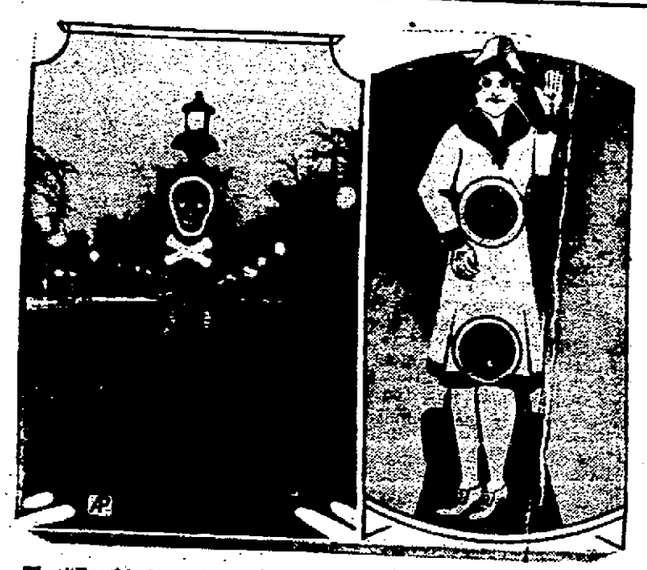
"Death's Head" Warns Motorists



The "Death's Head" (above) has been placed in various safety zones in Detroit to warn motorists. Police believe its ghastly warning is better than written admonitions. Inset shows a "rubber lady" of the type in some Detroit safety zones. It bounces back when struck.

Credit Is Irishman's

Although Chopin wrote some very beautiful specimens of the nocturne, he did not introduce it. John Field, an Irishman, was its inventor. He was born in Dublin in 1732 and made his debut as a solo pianist in 1792.

Freemasonry

The term "Freemasonry" grew out of the fact that only craftsmen not under control of the guilds were eligible. As the election was required to be unanimous, the members denoted themselves Free and Accepted Masons.

First Modeler in Clay

Butades of Sicyon was the first Greek to model in clay. The story runs that his daughter drew upon the wall the outline of her lover's shadow, upon which her father modeled the face of the young man. He then baked the model with the clay tiles that it was his trade to make. This was about 600 B. C.

Extreme Temperatures

A drop of 360 degrees in an hour or two is experienced on the moon during a total eclipse. Observations indicate that the normal temperature of the moon's surface drops from 170 degrees Fahrenheit immediately before the eclipse to 190 degrees below zero during the total eclipse.

Local High Five Defeats Spring Valley Quintet

Getting their scoring eyes trained in the third quarter of their game with the Spring Valley quintet at Middletown Friday night, the Kingston High School varsity courtsters, DUSO League champions, romped to a 26-8 victory over the Rockland county champions and thus got a strong foothold on their march for the championship of Zone No. 2.

The Kingston team carried out a strong defense throughout the contest, holding the Rockland county team to two fields and four fouls. The Spring Valley team, coached by Buck Sears, former Kingston High School student, played a remarkable defensive game until the third quarter when they succumbed to a strong scoring rally staged by Kingston.

Herbie Clarke, Kingston's husky right guard, was the outstanding scorer of the court battle. He found his way through the Spring Valley defense for eight points all of which were scored from scrimmage. He held his opponent scoreless while completing the feat and was an outstanding figure in Kingston's stellar defensive game.

Brennan's work at center also proved a big factor in the locals' win for he outjumped his opponent most of the time. He opened Kingston's scoring attack with a two pointer. The two points he collected were augmented by a duo which brought the locals' rally up to four points at half-time. Spring Valley's score at this point in the contest was three.

In the third quarter the Rockland county team was held scoreless, while Kingston boosted its tally to eight points. Clarke and Parks figured in putting Kingston in front. It was evident after this session that the Colonial city boys were superior and that Spring Valley would have to do a great deal more than just play good basketball to overcome them.

Kingston continued its scoring rally in the fourth quarter and boosted its eight points by 12 markers. All of the local players had a hand in the scoring except Blackwell.

NIGHT HAWKS TRDI RONDOUTS, EVENING MATTERS

The Columbia Night Hawks evened matters with the Rondout A. C. quintet Friday night at Salvation Army Hall, when Joe Koenig dropped a field and foul shot in the last minutes of play and put his team on an even basis throughout the contest. A third game likely will be played between the teams for they are now on even terms, the Rondouts having defeated the Hawks in a preliminary to the Army-Navy game at the armory some time ago.

ATHLETICS LOSE TWO STRAIGHT TO CARDINALS.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 9 (AP).—After losing two straight to the St. Louis Nationals, the Philadelphia Athletics said farewell for the present to the rampaging Cardinals and today turned their motor busses toward Miami to tackle the Cincinnati Reds. They will play the Reds again tomorrow before returning to their home base here.

Connie Mack was a trifle disappointed that the Athletics did not show better against the Cards, but made no complaint. The Nationals took yesterday's game, 11 to 6, after scoring a 2 to 0 victory the day before. The Mackmen hit the ball harder yesterday, but hits did not come at opportune times.

Rommel, Quinn and Grove were unable to stop the hard hitting Cards and the Mackmen clubbers were outwitted frequently by Old Grover Cleveland Alexander and a pair of rookie pitchers.

Baseball Dope Book Out.

The Sporting News Record Book, an unfailing sign of spring, has made its annual appearance. K. H. S. Junior Varsity Win Game

The Kingston High School Junior Varsity defeated Raymond Riordon, 35 to 29 at the local school gym Friday night. The Junior Varsity rolled up a good lead in the early part of the first quarter and maintained it throughout the game. The local school boys played splendid basketball. At half time they had the Riordon team, 17 to 3. In the final session the Kingston boys' passwork was a little ragged at times but it didn't seem to affect their scoring much for they doubled their tally in the second half. In the preliminary the K. H. S. Seconds were defeated by the Combination Five, 23 to 21.

The first part of the game was marred by fouls. This was when Kingston went into the lead, making five fouls in succession. Chipp made two singles, Gaddis made two more and Post made the other. After this Kingston gathered six more points. It wasn't until the last few minutes that the Riordon team succeeded in finding the hoop for a score. Hewes was fouled and he made his free throw good. Shortly after this the quarter ended. The score stood Kingston, 11, Raymond Riordon, 1.

In the second half "Ed" Minasian did all of Kingston's scoring. There wasn't very much point getting but out of the eight points the locals claimed six. It was in this quarter that Minasian was sent into the game for Post. Minasian took up his teammate's work where he left off and in quick succession found the hoop twice from scrimmage. It was after this that Eckert of the Riordon team scored their first field goal of the game. After this tally Minasian again found the hoop for a two-pointer which summed up the scoring for the second quarter. The Junior Varsity was now in the lead, 17 to 3.

The third period was a big scoring session for Kingston. The Junior Varsity rolled up 16 points to their opponents' 7. Minasian caged six of these points, Thompson sunk two deuces, while Chipp collected the other six by making shots from scrimmage. It was in this period that Kingston began to fail to pass accurately. Occasionally their passes were either thrown too high or too low and other times they were tossed into space. The third quarter ended with Kingston's lead much increased, 33 to 10.

The last quarter saw the Riordon team do a little scoring. They rolled up ten points in this period which was the same sum that they took three quarters to make. Eckert made three of his four fouls in this period, Eastman tallied twice from scrimmage while Morrow made the other two pointer. Van Deusen made a single and a double, Gaddis also made a shot good from the fifteen-foot penalty line and this ended the scoring for the game. The final tally was Kingston, 35, Raymond Riordon, 29.

Seconds Lose.

The preliminary game was very close, the Combination Five nosing out the K. H. S. Seconds, 23 to 21. Fuchsle led in scoring with 8 points.

SHAMROCKS TO PLAY K. H. S. FRESHMEN TONIGHT

The Shamrock quintet will mix it with the Kingston High School Freshman team at Salvation Army court tonight. The game is scheduled for 7:30 and is expected to be an interesting one. The Shamrocks were scheduled to meet the Wanderers tonight but this tilt was called off.

Will Benton Be Another Matty For Giants?

Shooting them over with a world of cunning and control, Larry Benton is warming up down in San Antonio for another big year with the Giants. McGraw said last year Larry would be another Mathewson. This year will tell.

San Antonio, Tex. (AP).—This is the year that will decide whether Larry Benton will rate a place with the pitching greats of all time.

The No. 1 ranking pitcher of the National League last season, Benton hurled his way into the heart of his boss, John McGraw. Before the season was half over, the Giants' manager was referring to Larry as the greatest he had seen since the days of Christy Mthewson. Another brilliant showing like 1928 would make the former Brave eligible for high honors.

Benton won 25 games and lost nine in 1928. He worked in 42 contests and pitched 28 complete games, finishing the season with 310 innings of box work to his credit. He had an earned run average of 2.73.

The Giants' star hung up the phenomenal record of finishing every game he started until along toward the closing weeks of the season when his arm began to tire under the strain.

It was Benton's work that enabled the Giants to make a race of it right up until the closing series of the season. If he could have mustered more help earlier in the pennant fight, his club might have been out in front at the finish.

Larry was one of those choice pickups from Boston for which the Giants have become famous. Coming here in a trade in June, 1927, he began to win consistently, whereas he had been a fifty-fifty pitcher with the Braves. Benton finished the 1927 season with 17 victories and seven defeats. In his previous year with Boston he had won 14 and lost 14, not a bad showing for a Boston pitcher.

Larry can have Jimmy Walker's job if he repeats his 1928 pitching performance.

Phillies Hope For New Berth

Winter Haven, Fla., March 9 (AP).—Supporters of the Philadelphia Nationals hope and believe that they have lost the jewel of consistency since the last season ended. The Phillies have consistently finished last in the National League race of late, and any change must be for the better.

Early signs at the training camp indicate that Burt Shotton, now a sophomore manager, at least has a chance to push his team out of the cellar.

A large question mark remains after the pitchers' names, but the rest of the lineup has been so improved that even if the pitching is no better than it was in 1928 it will show some results.

Shotton is able to offer a good infield, fair infield and two excellent catchers. He finds his stock on the shelves for emergency call low but he may be able to do something in the way of replacements later.

The most encouraging development for Phillie fans is in the infield. Tommy Thevenow seems certain to play great ball at shortstop. The star of the 1926 world series, when he wore a St. Louis Cardinal uniform, has recovered from a broken leg, suffered in 1927, and runs without the slightest suggestion of a limp.

Fresco Thompson at second base is an established star and Arthur Whitney third, and Don Hurst, first, are well on the road that leads to baseball glory, even with a tail-end team. The 1928 season marked the first year in fast company for Whitney and Hurst and their manager believes that the experience gained under fire will show dividends this year. Whitney hit .300 in his first chance and Thompson and Hurst were not far away.

Homer Peel, who came from St. Louis by way of Houston, Texas, apparently could not be denied a place in the outfield. Chuck Klein, who was promoted from Fort Wayne late in the season, finished so sensationally that he will be given a chance to repeat. Lefty O'Doul, former Giant, and Dennis Southern may divide outfield assignments. The veteran Cy Williams will be held in reserve.

Virgil Davis and Walter Lerian, at 24 and 26 years of age, take rank with the great young catchers of the game and will share the receiving burden. A pair of Georges, Susce and Sheliott, seek the other catching place.

In addition to the pitchers brought over from the 1928 season; three new ones appear to have won places on the staff. Jack Milligan, back from Syracuse, is a lefthander of promise. Two righthanders from the Southern Association may win starting positions for themselves. Luther Roy, late of Birmingham and with previous major league trials, and Phil Collins, up from New Orleans, where he pitched in 49 games, will be given extended observation. Holdovers include Ed Baecht, Ray Benge, Alex Ferguson, Bob McGraw, Lester "Sugar" Sweetland and Claude Willoughby.

Sweetland, another Florida product, has more stuff than most southpaws but can deliver it only on occasion through lack of control. He was the only Phillie pitcher able to display any success against the champion St. Louis Cardinals last year. June Green has seemed to be a better hitter than pitcher and he may join the fast growing colony of pitchers who have been converted to more regular work elsewhere.

A lack of infield reserves may prompt Manager Shotton to go scouting for another player or two. He has only the hitting Barney Friberg and two youngsters who need experience to toss in should the shock troops falter under the attack. He may get relief through scanning of requests for waivers by other clubs.

JUNIOR VARSITY TO PLAY AT TORRINGTON.

As a result of the local high school varsity team beating Spring Valley Friday night at Middletown in the first State Sectional elimination game, Coach Kias is sending his Junior Varsity out to Torrington, Conn., to play the high school team of that place. The Junior Varsity team has been playing splendid basketball all season and things look bright. The Torrington team has had a very successful season. They lost seven out of twenty games played. Torrington has beaten some of the best teams in the east and they expect to be one of the eight to enter the state tournament which is being held at the Yale gym in New Haven on March 15. The local school team has a hard game ahead of them but they are well able to stand the strain of a hard fought battle.

Discuss Thevenow's Condition.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 9 (AP).—Tommy Thevenow's apparent tiptop condition was the subject of much comment at the Phillies' camp today. The former St. Louis shortstop was sold to the Philadelphia Club last year because it was feared a broken ankle would interfere with his play.

Girls' Basketball Five Is Terror Of Arkansas

The girls' high school basketball team of Sparkman, Ark., has scored 1,864 points to 312 for opponents in winning 20 straight games in two years. Quinnie Keaton, forward (lower left), made 109 points in one game and 168 in another.

Yankees Ready To Start Drive

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 9 (AP)—Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig are enjoying their usual robust health, and the New York Yankees are ready to start another quest for baseball supremacy.

It matters little in the camp of the world champions that an untried third baseman will protect a corner of the infield, that the throwing of the pivot man at second may lack snap and precision, and that two pitchers are trying to regain their misplaced cunning. Ruth and Gehrig are in good health and spirits. The Yankees believe that when longer hits are made, Babe and Lou will make them.

The athletes of Miller Huggins find their position as stellar figures a mixed blessing. Every man's hand in baseball is against them, but as champions the burden of proof in eviction proceedings is on the opposition.

Mark Koenig, who has been a shortstop during most of his baseball life, for the time being at least has succeeded Joe Dugan at third base, with shortstop falling to Lyn Lary, sensational Pacific Coast recruit. Lary promises to join the small class of players able to live up to advance notices and big price tags. In his introduction to Manager Huggins he has displaced fewer weaknesses than most youngsters breaking into fast company.

In the limited scope permitted by "Hug", Tony Lazzeri, who suffered from a lame arm last season, has thrown well enough although no occasion has appeared calling for him to "bear down" on his repaired arm. Leo Durocher, a great fielder in any league, and Gene Robertson, better as a hitter than a fielder, stand subject to call without notice. Lou Gehrig has a first base assistant in the person of the veteran, Leorne Burns.

The Yankees, always fortified in the outfield, have now an even greater surplus of talent which may prove embarrassing when the time comes to clear the decks to a working basis. Ruth, Combs and Muesel, of course, will get first call and Durst and Paschal, able reserves, have been joined by Sam Byrd and Elias Funk, good enough to qualify as understudies. Outen, the North Carolina State collegian, can hit, but the Yanks will not be able to take advantage of his ability at this time.

The catching staff also presents a contest with Arndt Jorgens, an Oklahoma City recruit, fighting energetically for a place. Bengough, Dickey and Grabowski are wearers of service stripes.

Herb Pennock and Wilcy Moore, pitching casualties of 1928, look all right and feel all right, but the extent to which their ailing arms have been rejuvenated can be told only under fire.

Waite Hoyt and George Pipgras will take up just where they left off last year, and Tom Zachary, a bulwark in the closing days of the campaign, seems to grow younger with the passing of the years. Ed Wells, a lefthander with an abundance of ammunition, who has been a major leaguer before, has an excellent chance to be one again after a tour of duty in the Southern Association.

Henry Johnson, Fred Heimach and Myles Thomas are back again as is Al Shealy who started with the Yanks and finished with St. Paul. Fay Thomas, the former Giant, is bidding for a place, if they start playing football the California can not be kept out. Of the younger candidates Ray Sherid, Albright's home for major league representation, seems to have a slight advantage. He prepped at Montreal with conspicuous success.

Babe Ruth continues to pack the customers in, with or without tickets of admission. The practice of the Yankees is followed twice daily by great crowds with a definite auspice that a majority come to see the big fellow with the little legs hit the ball. Before Ruth deserted the golf course for the baseball field, the attendance was rated no better than fair. It jumped overnight. To the baseball railbirds the Yanks are only a ball club, but Babe is a hero.

Charlie Fisher Back in Ranks

Charlie Fisher, who dropped out of National Guard boxing and in fact announced his retirement from the ring some time ago, has reenlisted in the Guard and contemplates taking up pugilistic performance again.

Fisher is now a member of Battery A. He was in ranks for inspection Thursday night and his year or more absence from the Guard did not in any way hinder him from going through the regular drill routine in the best of form. If Charlie can step back into fighting shape as he did into the drills, he should stand a good chance with many of the boys doing battle in the National Guard ring today.

PENNSYLVANIA MEETS DARTMOUTH TONIGHT

Philadelphia, March 9 (AP).—Still fighting for the title that two weeks ago looked easy for Pennsylvania, the Red and Blue meets Princeton at the Palestra tonight in the final game of its Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League schedule.

A victory for Pennsylvania would mean its second straight championship and permanent possession of the Alexander trophy, while a defeat would throw the Quakers into a tie with Dartmouth for the title and probably would result in a play-off.

Pennsylvania has been trying to clinch the title since February 23, when Cornell was beaten here. That assured the Red and Blue of a tie. Then came defeats by Columbia and Dartmouth, the latter winning a week ago at Hanover, N. H., 31 to 22. Should Pennsylvania win tonight it would be its eighth Intercollegiate League championship since 1906.

Highland Trims Beacon Quintet

Victory in Hard-Fought Contest Keeps Lead for Three County Pirates—To Meet Beacon at Poughkeepsie Tuesday.

A spectacular field goal by Hasbrouck in the last minute of play enabled Highland Hose Company quintet to overcome Beacon 34-32 at Smith's Hall, Highland, Friday night and thus hold its lead over the hard fighting Beaconites in the Mid-Hudson Valley Basketball League.

A goodly number of fans, who crowded Smith's Hall, saw Highland take the lead at the outset of the game, only to be topped by Beacon as the team staged a scoring rally in the first quarter. Highland called time and shifted its lineup. Franks went from guard to forward and Hasbrouck dropped back to left guard position.

At the sound of the whistle the firemen started off with added vim and much signs of new life and interest in the game. They soon crawled up on the Beacon players and were neck and neck with them at half time, the score then being 16-16.

Fields by Lockhead and Franks put Highland in the lead shortly after the beginning of the second half. The firemen's lap on the Beaconites did not last long, however, for the down-river men had the range of the basket and sank the leather often. As the game neared its end the teams see-sawed in their possession of the lead. Then came the deadlock, which was smashed by Hasbrouck's shot that clinched the game for Highland.

Franks with 16 points to his credit was the highest scorer of the Highland team and played a big hand in the team's victory. He was especially accurate in his foul shooting, making good six out of seven tries. His teammates gave him plenty of support and contributed much toward putting up a battle that was a pleasure to watch. Maury McDermott, Highland center, came through with several baskets at times when they were much needed. The score:

ROBINSON REPORTED AFTER EDDIE FARRELL

Clearwater, Fla., March 9 (AP).—It would be hard to say what they would do with him if they got him but rumors have it that Wilbert Robinson, president-manager of the Brooklyn Robins is making overtures to Emil Fuchs of the Boston Braves to obtain Dr. Eddie Farrell, the dentist-infielder.

The rumors started when Robinson was seen talking with Fuchs in St. Petersburg yesterday. Robinson has considerable respect for Farrell's ball-playing ability but Eddie, primarily a shortstop would have trouble trying to find a regular berth with Glenn Wright, Dave Bancroft and Billy Rhiel to beat out.

Boys Who Spend Evenings at Home

Nine Per Cent of 75,000 Boys Attending Continuation Schools in State Do So—Largest Proportion in New York City.

Albany, March 9 (AP).—Nine per cent of 75,000 boys attending the continuation schools of New York state and working part of their time spend all their evenings at home, according to a report issued today by the State Education Department.

One boy out of six, the report states, spends all his evenings away from home; six per cent stay home one night a week; approximately 15 per cent stay at home two nights, and approximately 16 per cent, three nights a week. Approximately 12 per cent spend four nights a week at home; nearly nine per cent, five nights, and four per cent go out one night a week.

A survey of conditions in Buffalo showed that 16 per cent of the continuation school boys in that city spent all their evenings away from home, while more than six per cent stayed home every night.

In Rochester, 15 per cent reported that they spent no evenings at home. This was the highest percentage in this class in any section of the state. More than one-fifth of the Rochester continuation school boys, however, spent three evenings a week at home.

In New York city it was found that a larger proportion of continuation school boys spend five, six and even seven evenings a week at home than in other cities. More than 11 per cent claimed to spend all their evenings at home.

"These figures speak well for the employed boys," Dr. L. A. Wilson, deputy state education commissioner, declared, "especially when we remember that at their ages, 14 to 17, the demand for recreation is strongest and the irksomeness of labor is strongly felt."

$2,000 Verdict in Kennell Case

a jury might draw from the common knowledge and experience of mankind, in the absence of positive evidence to the contrary. It might and probably would remain in the minds of the jurors until overcome by evidence. Such a presumption is rebuttable; it may be rejected and disregarded, no matter how strong and persuasive is its character. (Platt v. Elias, 188 N. Y. 374.) When substantial evidence to the contrary is produced, the presumption disappears, and ceases to be a legal factor in the case.

"The learned trial court, in a charge unusually clear and explicit, stated the claims of the respective parties, the issue presented and the rules under which the plaintiff might recover, giving in detail the differentiation in the rule between the alienation of affections by parents and by strangers, quoting literally from the leading cases on the subject. The jury was informed that the burden of proof on all these issues was upon the plaintiff, and that he could not recover unless they found that the defendants had gone beyond the proper limits of parental care, rights, and duties, and had acted wrongfully and with malice.

"There was no occasion then for the court to restate a doctrine already fully covered but rephrased in this abstract form, unrelated to the case in which both parties had presented their evidence. Very likely it does no harm and little good to state legal platitudes to a jury; but in this case there was no harmful error in declining to charge as requested.

"The judgment should be affirmed with costs."

FORMER NICARAGUA REBEL LEADER REPORTED KILLED

Managua, Nicaragua, March 9 (AP).—Native papers today said General Manuel Maria Jiron, former Sandino insurgent leader, who has been in the custody of marines for the last month, had been executed by members of the Nicaraguan Volunteer Constabulary.

Jiron accompanied a volunteer patrol, promising to lead it into a location where he said the insurgent leader Augustino Sandino could be captured. Instead, members of the patrol found he was leading them into ambush.

The leader of the volunteers placed Jiron under arrest, tried him by court martial and ordered him shot.

End Examination Of Local Guard

Concluding their examination of local National Guard batteries and military property with the inspection of Battery B, in command of Captain E. C. Lawson, at the armory Friday night, federal and state officers voiced their approval of the manner in which Major O. R. Hiltebrant and officers under him are running guard affairs in this city.

The inspection of Battery B, which was out in all its glory, climaxed a two days' inspection of the local units of the First Battalion, 156th Field Artillery, the armory and equipment therein and the battalion stables on Manor avenue. Despite the fact that Kingston is very much in need of a new armory, Major Lucien H. Dalliferro of the regular army and Lieutenant Colonel William R. White of the state militia found conditions very creditable at the place which is entirely unadapted to artillery purposes.

At the battalion stables, in charge of Sergeant John F. Roosa, the inspectors were very much pleased with the way things are being managed. They complimented those who care for the place. Of course the stables are not of the type used in housing the militia's animals, so the officers had to bear this in mind when examining the place. It was regretted that the Kingston Guardsmen were handicapped by the distance which separates the stables from the armory.

Battery B, in command of Captain E. C. Lawson, made a fine showing at inspection Friday evening and was admired not alone by the military men who examined it but by civilians who turned out to see the inspection. Prizes for the neatest looking soldiers went to Sergeant Charles Styles and Bugler Walter E. Ransom. These men were picked after much consideration. They received $5 each from Major O. R. Hiltebrant and a like amount from their commanding officer, Captain E. C. Lawson, who indicated that he was exceptionally proud of his men Friday night. The prizes were awarded by the Rev. Father McKeon of Newburgh, chaplain of the regiment.
